

SAYS SERVANT
RAN HOUSEHOLD

Mrs. Jewell Testifies That for the Last Two Years with Her Husband She Was Not Allowed to Assume Charge.

NEVER WAS CONFIDENTIAL WITH SERVANTS, SHE SAYS.

An Invalid for Past Seven Years, She Asserts, and Chambermaid at Head of House Ignored Her.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Caroline L. Jewell, in Justice Leventritt's court today on the presumption of abuse of the suit and counter-suit for abuse of the suit between Col. James A. Jewell, sixty-five, and herself with a total of nine co-defendants, was conducted by ex-Supreme Court Justice William N. Cohen.

Judge Cohen asked Mrs. Jewell all about her habits of life and her management of her household.

"For the last two years of my life with Col. Jewell," said Mrs. Jewell, "I was not allowed to control my household. He told me to go out of the house for two weeks on business and handed me $200."

Mrs. Jewell did not say who employed her, but her attorneys intimated that it was Alice Ferguson, the "confidential chambermaid," who is named by her as co-respondent in her counter charges.

"I did not associate with servants," Mrs. Jewell said she was born in Lacombe, N. H., and was married to her husband in 1874. She was married to Col. Jewell in 1890, in Lacombe.

"Alice Ferguson and Annie Roney were our chambermaid and cook in One Hundred and Forty-fourth street for years," said she.

"What were your relations with them?" asked Judge Cohen.

"The relation of mistress and servant," said Mrs. Jewell. "I did not lower myself to associate with them."

"In all these years did you not become more confidential with them?" "Certainly not."

Mrs. Jewell said she had nervous prostration in 1897, was quite ill in 1898, and had been an invalid for the last seven years.

"When I was ill in 1902 I got very little attention from the servants," said Mrs. Jewell. "The Colonel put Alice Ferguson in charge of the house, and she entirely ignored me."

Mrs. Jewell testified that she always had a friendly feeling for "Bert" Chapman, but that she did not nurse him when he was ill and never played games with him.

"Did he confide to you his business troubles and his little heartaches?" asked Judge Cohen.

"No," she said.

not be supported by the upper courts in case it should be admitted, and the defense, in the event of conviction, should appeal.

Charge of Conspiracy Falls.

Consequently Mr. Rand's threat, made yesterday evening in the absence of the jury, that he would show conspiracy between the accused, Smith and his wife which resulted in the death of Young—although that extremity had not been considered—comes to naught. It was only, as Mr. Rand expressed it, a "legal theory."

In order to place the Justice's decision in direct issue before the jury, which was excused last night before Mr. Rand made his startling statement about a conspiracy, Police Captain Swanney was recalled to the stand at the opening of court today, to be questioned about the alleged fact that the defendant's brother-in-law is a fugitive from justice.

Mr. Rand said that yesterday he produced a warrant for Smith to be identified by the police captain, but that the defendant objected to its admission.

"I have consulted the authorities," said Mr. Rand, "and I have concluded that the admission of that paper in evidence is not free from doubt. Therefore, I will withdraw the offer of that paper in evidence."

Then William Fiske, the brother-in-law of Mr. Young, was called to the stand. Mr. Fiske described himself as a salesman, of No. 227 West One Hundred and Forty-fourth street.

Q. Did you know the late Caesar Young? A. Yes.

Q. You and Caesar Young married sisters? A. Yes.

Q. On the night of June 3 did you see Caesar Young? A. Yes, at about 7:00 o'clock in the evening I met him at my house.

Q. Were you ever in the pawn shop of Hyman Stern? A. Yes.

Q. Was Young at the house when you came home? A. No, he and Mrs. Young drove up in a hansom. The Youngs and Mrs. McKee were with them.

Q. What time did you get up in the morning? A. I got up at 7:00 o'clock.

Q. Where did you go? A. I went to the office.

GIRL AUTOISTS
RUN DOWN MAN

Victim, George Pierson, Insisted that Actresses Be Arrested for Running Over His Leg, but Finally Compromised.

Irene Bishop and Evelyn Ware deserve to be severely reprimanded. They went out in their big red automobile without a chauffeur this afternoon and ran over a man's leg.

This catastrophe was accentuated by the fact that the man was attached to the leg at the time and insisted that Policeman Dan Rinn arrest the fair autoists.

But when he got to the Tenderloin station-house and found that they were actresses in Weber & Ziegfeld's music hall, on their way to a rehearsal, he compromised on a pass to the show.

Irene and Evelyn were proceeding slowly and carefully along Broadway at Thirty-fifth street, when their automobile encountered the man, who said he was George Pierson, of No. 323 West Nineteenth street.

Down went Mr. Pierson and up jumped Mr. Pierson, rubbing his leg and screaming that the front wheel of the automobile had run over it.

"Oh, kind sir," implored Irene and Evelyn, "please do not submit us to the indignity of arrest."

"If you had your leg run over," replied Mr. Pierson, "you'd want to have somebody arrested."

And he just simply insisted that Dan Rinn take the fair young things to the station-house.

Dan and George rode in the automobile and when they got before Sergt. Wall and the girls explained, the pain in the leg had almost disappeared.

Irene and Evelyn were not late for rehearsal.

Policeman Rinn forgot to inquire if Pierson had a wooden leg.

NEW INDICTMENTS
FOR MRS. CHADWICK

She said she could not do this until she had consulted with her attorneys, so Mr. Chandler had no alternative but to send her to the cell which had been prepared for her in the Cuyahoga County Jail. She was taken there and turned over to Sheriff Barry.

COULDN'T SLEEP IN TOMBS PRISON.

To a reporter who talked with her on the train after leaving Buffalo Mrs. Chadwick said:

"I am planning my defense alone. When I arrive in Cleveland I will consult my counsel, Judge Albaugh, and others and be guided by them in selecting a lawyer to defend me. I will rest a few days before I begin my actual battle for liberty. I am confident I will be able to set matters right soon."

"It has been stated that Gov. Black is through with my case. That is untrue. I had an appointment with him a week ago in his office, but was unable to keep it on account of illness."

"There is one reason for my leaving New York, which I would not mention if it were not to help other unfortunate women confined in the Tombs prison. There ought to be something done to eradicate the vermin. The women's department is still in the old prison. I hope the new building is finished soon, so the women prisoners can be transferred, for there is no sleep possible for these unfortunate now."

The cell in which Mrs. Chadwick now is, is little more than a dungeon. It is No. 14 on the second tier of the women's jail. It has no windows and the prisoners are allowed to use the corridors during the day for reading, walking or any work they want to do. Another privilege Mrs. Chadwick will enjoy in common with two other women, who are now in the same tier, is the use of a small gas stove and a set of dishes for cooking.

WOMAN'S CELL IS LIKE A DUNGEON.

Matron Stanton, who received Mrs. Chadwick to-day, half apologized for the character of the cell she placed her in. She explained that a new jail was being built, but that for the present all prisoners had to put up with dungeons cells. There is no article of furniture in Mrs. Chadwick's cell save a stool. Her bed is a steel frame, which can be lowered and raised from the top of the cell. Mrs. Chadwick will have the privilege of adding from her private store to the furnishings of her cell, and will also have the right of having her meals sent in.

Sheldon G. Kerrish had a talk with Mrs. Chadwick after her incarceration in a cell, and it is said he will defend her. Kerrish is one of the best known young attorneys in this city.

DR. CHADWICK OFFERS AID.

Dr. Chadwick has called his wife as follows: "Can I be of any service to you? I will take first steamer. Keep up courage."

Mrs. Chadwick's reply, sent before she boarded the train in New York, was: "Don't come. You could do no good. Thanks for offering assistance."

United States District Judge Wing to-day issued an order to Marshal Chandler to place Receiver Loefer in charge of the Chadwick home on Euclid avenue. This action followed the refusal of the keeper placed in the house by the Blyria, O. bank, to turn over the property to Loefer.

EX-BANKER GOES TO JAIL.

A. K. O. Dec. 14—Charles A. Semler, formerly a prominent broker here, was sentenced to-day to serve eighteen months in the penitentiary for obtaining $200 for the second National Bank two years ago under false pretenses. Semler was captured in San Francisco last summer after having been in South America following his disappearance from Akron.

SPYER SYNDICATE WINDS UP.

The syndicate organized by Spyer & Co. to finance the $250,000 Cuban loan has been wound up. Participants are said to have divided a profit of slightly less than 5 per cent. At no time were the members of the syndicate called upon to pay any part of their subscriptions.

CHILDREN'S AID APPEALS.

Society Needs Money for Its Christmas Dinner to Poor.

A Christmas appeal for poor children has been issued by the Children's Aid Society. The society needs money to make a happy Christmas for the thousands of children under its care, and to carry on the general work.

For more than fifty years the Children's Aid Society has been caring for the poor and neglected children of the city. In its lodging-houses and temporary homes many hundreds of the homeless are sheltered and cared for. The cost for training a street boy at the farm school is $20. Twenty dollars will give a permanent home to some little homeless child, and $50 will provide hot dinners at one of the industrial schools for a month. Gifts may be sent to C. Loring Brace, No. 108 East Twenty-second street, or to the Treasurer, A. B. Repburn, Chase National Bank.

An Aged Physician

After Years of Experience Gave the Following Advice.

"If you have anything to do with medicine at all be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

One of the following well-known drugs says this in a strong point in favor of their valuable and pure oil preparation. It is not a patent medicine, and anything it contains is plainly printed on the bottle.

Vinoli contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod livers, but without a drop of oil or grease to nauseate and upset the stomach. This is the reason that Vinoli accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run-down, overworked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinoli.

Mrs. Martha Fraser, of Portland, Me., writes: "I was all run down from overwork and had a chronic cough for years. I had tried so many remedies without help that I had lost all faith in medicine and was discouraged. My daughter bought me a bottle of Vinoli. It simply worked wonders for me. I am now in perfect health and am better than I have been for years. I cannot say enough in praise of this wonderful cod liver oil preparation. It is a perfect cod liver oil, and gives strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinoli."

We, the undersigned, retail druggists of New York, being Sole Agents for Vinoli in this city, are prepared to guarantee it in the strongest manner, and positively agree to return money to any one who buys Vinoli of us and is not perfectly satisfied. Your money will be returned without any question, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinoli.
